

Interesting quote from A Bug's Life...

You let one ant stand up to us, and they all might stand up! Those "puny little ants" outnumber us a hundred to one. And if we ever let them figure that out... THERE GOES OUR WAY OF LIFE! It's not about food. It's about keeping those ants in line.

WHAT IS NEW ZEALAND RISING?

New Zealand Rising is an alliance of separate groups and individuals from all across New Zealand who believe in a better future. We are many different people with different views, however we all share a common vision for the future.

"We, the people, stand united for a New Zealand that is respectful, includes everyone, and is free of government overreach."

"Kia tūkotahi tātou ō Aotearoa, hei whakarangatira tātou i a tātou. Herea te Kāwanatanga, kia kore e pēhia te mana o te tāngata."

From the Editor: We cover quite a few similar, if not the same, subjects from different sources and perspectives in this issue. There are different nerve-wracking events happening in NZ and worldwide, but it's not hard to see the trend. It's a lot of the same shenanigans by a narcissistic and deeply troubled leadership. A Double Invasion: Partnering with Justice Watch NZ Against Roadside Drug Testing

Red and blue image created by Midjourney using AI-generated design and Midjourney Pro license content

From: NZDSOS

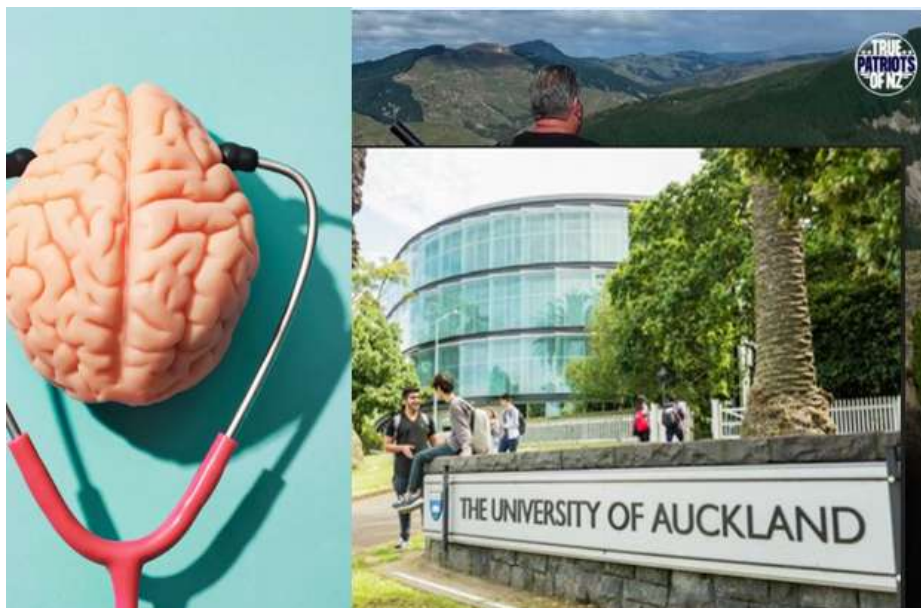

Introduction: Standing Together for Safety and Rights

NZDSOS is lobbying alongside Justice Watch NZ and others to change the Government's new roadside drug testing regime. The war on hard drugs needs to target the producers, importers and distributors, not Joe Public randoms.

A colleague was stopped and swabbed recently. The female police officer was upset at what she was compelled to do, admitted she had covid jab-injured colleagues, and understood public resistance to further invasive procedures. But nonetheless she followed orders. Our colleague, already late for a flight, did not have the luxury of abandoning his car in the wop wops.

NZDSOS focuses on biomedical science and ethics – specifically, what foreign substances we are compelled or deceived to accept into our bodies. But this issue is also about civil liberties, due process, and the fundamental right to say NO to an invasive procedure without evidence of wrongdoing. The punishment for withholding consent is an automatic 12-hour driving ban, and hefty $400 fine and 75 demerit points. So much for innocent until proven guilty. Read more here.

University Of Auckland: A Survey of Trust of The NZ Health Care System Should NZH Have Their Head Examined?

The Fauci Playbook and the Parallel in New Zealand Public Health Officials Behaving Badly

From: NZDSOS

The recent explosive non-testimony from Dr. Anthony Fauci before the U.S. Senate, combined with the release of his private-not-private diaries, has torn another mask off the global pandemic narrative. The Midwestern Doctor on Substack reflects on the meaning of some of what was put to Fauci, who refused all questions.

What we see is a pattern of expert-driven fear that had devastating consequences. For New Zealand, this is not just a distant story. The parallels are striking and should command our attention. See the full article here.

Drug Testing & The NZ Law They Are Taking Your DNA

From: Holistic Evolution on YouTube

They do not tell you that giving it is optional. They do not tell you that you have the right to say no. I also want to say this gently but clearly. So many of us get caught up in talking about what we think they might do. We sit in groups. We share stories. We build up all the things we believe are coming, all the things they are planning. And in all that talking and worrying, we miss the most important part. We miss the remedy that is already there. When we focus only on what they might do. You don't have to guess what they might do, or fear, but already know the law, and stand on it. Listen to the short clip here.

Criminal Investigations (Bodily Samples) Act 1995 Sections 6 and 7

TO: [Officer Name / Authority / Agency]

TAKE NOTICE:

You are requesting or proposing to take a bodily sample from me – including saliva, mouth swab, or any sample capable of yielding genetic material or DNA, whether stated to be for drug testing or any other purpose.

YOUR OBLIGATION UNDER SECTIONS 6 AND 7:

Before obtaining any sample, you must clearly and explicitly inform me:

1. Providing this sample is entirely optional
2. I may withhold or refuse consent absolutely
3. This sample contains my full genetic identity and DNA, and any use, storage, or analysis of that DNA also requires my consent
4. The full effect of giving consent, and the full effect of refusing consent

You are not entitled to obtain, retain, store, or analyse my DNA or genetic material unless I have been fully informed of all these facts and have given explicit, knowing, and voluntary consent.

MY STANDING:

I hold inherent rights under natural law over my own body, my genetic identity, and my person. No consent is given to any action beyond what is clearly disclosed and agreed.

ANY ACTION TAKEN WITHOUT FULL COMPLIANCE WITH SECTIONS 6 AND 7 IS DONE WITHOUT MY CONSENT AND UNDER PROTEST.

All liability, consequence, and legal responsibility for any breach rests fully and exclusively with you and your principal.

I reserve all my rights, standing, and protections – without exception.

New EFTPOS Terminals Remove The Need For Cards Or Phones

From: RNZ

Editor's Note: We include this "whitewashed version of news" here with caution. While it tells us what's coming down the road, read with a critical eye. RNZ and other MSM pave the way, getting us ready for a rosy future with a safe and efficient brave new world.

Kiwis could soon be able to make purchases using their face or hand, without the need for a card. EFTPOS New Zealand is rolling out new Verifone Victa biometric payment terminals that will allow people to pay with their faces or palms - without cards. The new tech can also act as an age verification tool in stores that sell liquor and vapes, for example, or automatically load up people's loyalty programmes. Retail NZ chief executive Carolyn Young said when she first heard about the tech, she was "like, wow". "I can use my face. How's my face going to know my bank account?" she told Morning Report. Police To Brian Tamaki: "You Can Never Hold A Gun Again" Passionate Speech is Not Hate Speech

From Brian Tamaki on X

If it can happen to me, you could be next.

Yesterday, New Zealand Police issued me with a notice revoking my firearms licence. According to the Firearms Safety Authority, I will not be getting my firearms licence back.

This follows the temporary suspension issued to me on 30 June and the subsequent submissions made by my lawyer opposing that suspension.

The decision goes even further.

I am now prohibited not only from possessing my own firearms, but from possessing or using a firearm even under the supervision of a licensed firearms holder.

After holding a firearms licence for many years without issue, Police have now decided I am no longer a "fit and proper person". And why?

When Doing Nothing Wrong Costs More Than Committing a Crime

 The issue is not whether public institutions should be able to obtain legal advice. It is whether an ordinary person has a realistic chance of sustaining a credible case against them.
 Public institution	 Ordinary person
 Salaried staff and internal records	 Must locate and organise evidence personally
 Established legal advisers	 Must find and pay a suitable lawyer
 Public or insured legal costs	 Personal savings, debt or family support
 Familiarity with statutory processes	 Learning the system while living with the consequences
 Ability to continue over several years	 Financial, emotional and health pressure increases over time
 The issue is not whether public institutions should be able to obtain legal advice. It is whether an ordinary person has a realistic chance of sustaining a credible case against them.

From: Lobby for Good on Substack

There is a moment when you realise the issue is no longer about whether you are right. It is about whether you can afford to prove it.

Unfortunately, that moment is more likely to begin around your kitchen table after work, when the children have gone to bed than a courtroom. Maybe you're discussing a council decision affecting your family business, a planning process changing the neighbourhood you have lived in for years, an administrative error that has grown into something much larger, or a public asset being managed in a way that now threatens your livelihood. Barry Young: The Safest Vaccine Site in New Zealand Was Right Next to Parliament

From: FreeNZ

Barry Young explains the detailed statistical analysis he performed on the New Zealand vaccination data. Using the same tools an epidemiologist would employ - graphs, confidence intervals, Poisson scores, p-values and Standardised Mortality Rates (SMRs) - he examined both the national picture and individual vaccination sites.

While the overall data showed excess mortality, results varied sharply by location: some sites recorded significantly elevated deaths, others performed better than expected. Watch Barry

It's Official, "NZ is Safest Because We're Far From Everything" (At Least in Kim Dotcoms' Eye's)

Editors Note: If you live in the Queenstown area, you may bump into Kim Dotcom. He's here for a reason. In his mind, it's one of the safest places to be. As a side note, fortunately for us Peter Thiel and his ilk have shifted their sites to Argentina, so at least we're safe from them. Be warned, this interview isn't optimistic. But I can't afford a negative thought, so I'm not buying it. But we include it here because Dotcom is brilliant and has a good story to tell. The Checkout Shock Kiwis Can Feel Every Week

A trip to the supermarket and a stop at the petrol station are hitting Kiwi households harder than ever. Statistics NZ's latest figures show annual inflation has climbed to 4.1%, with soaring fuel prices playing a major role. Petrol prices have risen 27.5%, while diesel has surged an astonishing 71% over the past year. Statistics NZ estimates that without those fuel price increases, annual inflation would have been 2.9% instead of 4.1%. See the full article here.

Why Is This Talk On "Death Cult Mind Control" Really Important For Regular People?

By: Jason Christoff

I know some people may be a little uncomfortable with the subject I'm taking on lately.

I call it Death Cult Mind Control.

Very few people are discussing this issue and that's OK.

I believe it's very important that the public start learning what Death Cult Mind Control is, how it works and how to start pulling our society out of the mud that it's currently stuck in.

A good example of this Death Cult Mind Control has surfaced lately, but to be honest.....it's frankly all around us every single day. The Suppressed Essential Nutrient and its Benefits for Mental Health

Ex-South African banker Stephen Goodson explains how the central banking scam originated, and how those who run it have throughout history used their power to subvert governments, and manufacture wars that not only produced vast profits, but frequently to topple 'regimes' whose banking system was not under their control. The scam of the money-lenders is the ability to literally create money from nothing, and then lend and accumulate interest on "credit," and then re-lend that interest for further interest, in perpetuity, that creates pervasive, worldwide debt, from the individual, to the family, to the entire state. Editor's Note: This small book is probably one of the best snapshots, concisely put forth to give you an idea of how we got to where we are.

What if the missing piece in our mental health crisis isn't a new drug—but a forgotten nutrient? One whose absence fuels a quiet catastrophe in the minds of millions—eroding emotional resilience, independent thought, and even our capacity for democratic life. In this bold and eye-opening book, physician and molecular geneticist Dr. Michael Nehls reveals that lithium, long dismissed as a psychiatric drug, is an essential trace element—vital for brain health, emotional stability, and social cohesion. And yet most people today are chronically deficient in this crucial element.
